Be a Lobo! Protect the Pack!

Learn about the many campus resources we offer and how you can be a part of them.

Every year El Centro de la Raza hosts a very special family and cultural oriented graduation ceremony called Raza Graduation. This is an important event for Latino/a students at UNM. Raza Graduation is also an excellent way to celebrate the students' accomplishments and younger students with role-models as they progress.

Sexual assault prevention is a concern among college campuses across the nation. This year, the Office of Equal Opportunity will begin a Campus Climate Survey the first week of April to assess the student population's exposure to the risk of sexual misconduct and gather information to improve our intervention strategies, prevention and response initiatives.

The Office of Equal Opportunity will conduct a survey on sexual misconduct. Please watch your emails for this important survey. "Sexual misconduct" includes sexual violence, sexual harassment, and sexual exploitation. The survey will begin in April and will be available on the Office of Equal Opportunity’s website. The Office of Equal Opportunity is committed to learning about sexual misconduct and will work to protect and support students and employees on our campus. The survey is voluntary and anonymous. All students are encouraged to participate.

As this time of year can be stressful — Reach out and get the assistance you need, especially if you need someone to talk to about issues — or need workshops on topics such as managing stress, dealing with grief, or handling conflict. There are a variety of workshops available through the Counseling Center.

The Center for Academic Program Support (CAPS) is available to help students study. Check them out today! They have great resources to help you get great grades on those papers and tests! They always there to help you with writing and learning strategies. They have great workshops and tutoring sessions available.

We are entering the last half of the spring semester. This is a very busy time as the campus comes alive with lots of people studying and hanging out at the Duck Pond. I hope you all had a restful and fun spring break! Spring is a time when our students are focusing on their studies.

Dear Lobos,

As this time of year can be stressful — Reach out and get the assistance you need, especially if you need someone to talk to about issues — or need workshops on topics such as managing stress, dealing with grief, or handling conflict. There are a variety of workshops available through the Counseling Center.

The Center for Academic Program Support (CAPS) is available to help students study. Check them out today! They have great resources to help you get great grades on those papers and tests! They always there to help you with writing and learning strategies. They have great workshops and tutoring sessions available.

We are entering the last half of the spring semester. This is a very busy time as the campus comes alive with lots of people studying and hanging out at the Duck Pond. I hope you all had a restful and fun spring break! Spring is a time when our students are focusing on their studies.

Have a Great Month, Lobos!